Nomination guidance and judging criteria

Nominating someone for an award? – Please read this first

The UK Coaching Awards provide a unique opportunity to recognise and reward the work of excellent coaches in all sports and at all levels, from community to high performance.

Success in the Awards depends on two factors: the quality of coaching demonstrated by the candidate and the quality of the nomination itself. The nomination process is straightforward, but to do justice to the person you're nominating, please follow this advice:

- Check the judging criteria to ensure you're making a nomination in the right category. Note that some categories are restricted to volunteers only.
- Follow the golden rule of journalism and tell the story about achievement and impact in your first paragraph of Sections 3 and 4, providing further detail to back this up
- Read the What are we looking for? bullet points and ensure you cover each of these
- Bring the nomination to life with examples of how the coach has made a real difference to your club or sport, preferably with statistics / results and quotes from their athletes
- Include evidence of how the coach has left a legacy within the sport or local environment. This could be through lasting opportunities available to participants or a long-term enhancement to the sport.
- If appropriate, use the Additional supporting information box for any further detail which makes your candidate stand out from all the others who have been nominated
- The judging panel can only take into account information on the nomination form, so please don't include any attachments.
